

OAPEC chief receives Crans Montana Forum's "Prix de La Fondation" Award

KUWAIT, June 22 (KUNA) -- The Rabat-based Crans Montana Forum has named Secretary General of the Organization of the Arab Petroleum Exporting Countries (OAPEC) Abbas Al Naqi as a winner of its annual award for his role in promoting sustainable development in the region and the world.

In a press statement issued Sunday, the OAPEC said that Al-Naqi received the "Prix de la Fondation" award in a ceremony held Friday in Rabat on the sidelines of 25th annual session of Crans Montana Forum.

The statement noted that six other international figures, including three presidents, have received similar awards.

The Crans Montana Forum is an International Organization, Swiss owned and managed, whose importance and prestige have been well-established since 1986. It is formally recognized by all major International Organizations.

The philosophy of the Founding Fathers has always been to build a more Humane and Impartial World: "Committed to a more Humane and Impartial World".

The Crans Montana Forum works for the promotion of international cooperation and contributes to global growth while ensuring a high level of stability, equity and security. It aims also to foster best practices and ensure a global dialogue.
