

Crans Montana Forum kicks off Friday in Rabat

Rabat - The 25th annual meeting of the Crans Montana Forum, a global platform to promote international cooperation, dialogue, growth, stability, peace and security in the world, kicked off Friday in Rabat under the theme "Heading on South-South: not only a strategy, but a necessity."

Under the auspices of King Mohammed VI, the meeting which is held at the headquarters of the Islamic, Scientific, Educational, and Cultural Organization (ISESCO), is attended by a number of heads of State, government ministers, heads of international organizations, economists and business leaders from several countries to discuss promising new markets, particularly in Africa.

The opening session was marked by a royal speech, which was read by Foreign Minister, Salaheddine Mezouar.
